Walters to oppose compromise

BY RICHARD MEEK
A compromise that would have brought resolution to a bitter feud between the Hancock County School District and the county Port & Harbor Commission has apparently hit a snag.

Port & Harbor Executive

Director Hal Walters said late Wednesday afternoon that he opposed a proposed compromise that calls for the P&H and the county Board of Supervisors sharing the cost of a road that would lead to school district's new middle school.

Supervisors and school board members met Tuesday night in an attempt to hammer out an agreement between the P&H and the school district. Although no P&H members attended, attorney Ronnie Ar-tigues represented the Commission.

The Commission and the school district have been feuding since last fall over a 20-acre tract of land adjacent to Hancock High School. The Commission has contended the property is needed for future development at nearby Stennis International Airport, although on Wednesday Walters said there is no immediate need for that property. "It's for our storage plan for the airport," Walters said. School district officials have plans to build a new middle

County engineer to reap reward from road plan

BY ED LEPOMA

County road engineer Larry Seal's firm will take home $350,000 when Hancock County supervisors embark on a $4 million plan to upgrade and pave roads.

Seal's fees for designing and monitoring the ambitious countywide road improvement project came up at a recent workshop and he stuck by his guns Monday during the February meeting of the Board of Supervisors. He said the seven percent fee he proposed was in line with what other engineering firms charge. As county engineer, Seal is paid $600 a month.

Seal's statement came after District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour said he felt supervisors should give Seal half of the project and select another engineer for the other half of the work.

Seymour's motion to divide the work was seconded by District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward, who told Seal she thought his proposed fee was

Lighthouse planned for Ulman Street

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Plans for an artistic—but functional—lighthouse near the Ulman Street pier were endorsed Tuesday by Bay St. Louis City Council.

Council also called for bids on a new fire truck, agreed to hire welfare recipients in a new "workfare" program, and went on record urging construction of a barrier down the middle of the Bay St. Louis bridge.

Action on the lighthouse came at the urging of Elizabeth Veglia, who appeared at a Monday workshop and Tuesday night's meeting. She said the project will cost a minimum of $50,000.

The "striking entrance" to the city, she said, will serve as "a symbol of local pride."

Rising some 24 feet off the city's bluff, the lighthouse will be decorated with a mosaic designs depicting significant events in the city's history. In addition to the city's most important events, she said, local citizens will be asked to help design and build the mosaic. City officials earlier had set aside some $17,500 to help Veglia with her original idea for a Tricentennial mosaic monument at the Depot. But she convinced city leaders that project should be scrapped and replaced by the waterfront lighthouse.

She's hopeful that Mississippi Power Co. will supply and maintain the light fixture, and the city will help construct a protective barrier around it.

Plans drafted by local architect Allison Anderson show the lighthouse will be decorated with the help of community participants. Veglia said aside from a light at the peak, the lighthouse will sport a weather vane.

The lighthouse would sit near the Ulman Street pier, a wooden structure which is being replaced by a concrete pier. Workers have done preliminary

Waveland drainage project begins

BY BETSY GAGNET

There was good news all around in Waveland this week. Waveland Mayor John Mason returned to work this week following an absence due to illness.

Mason presided over Tuesday's Board of Aldermen meeting and returned to work on Wednesday.

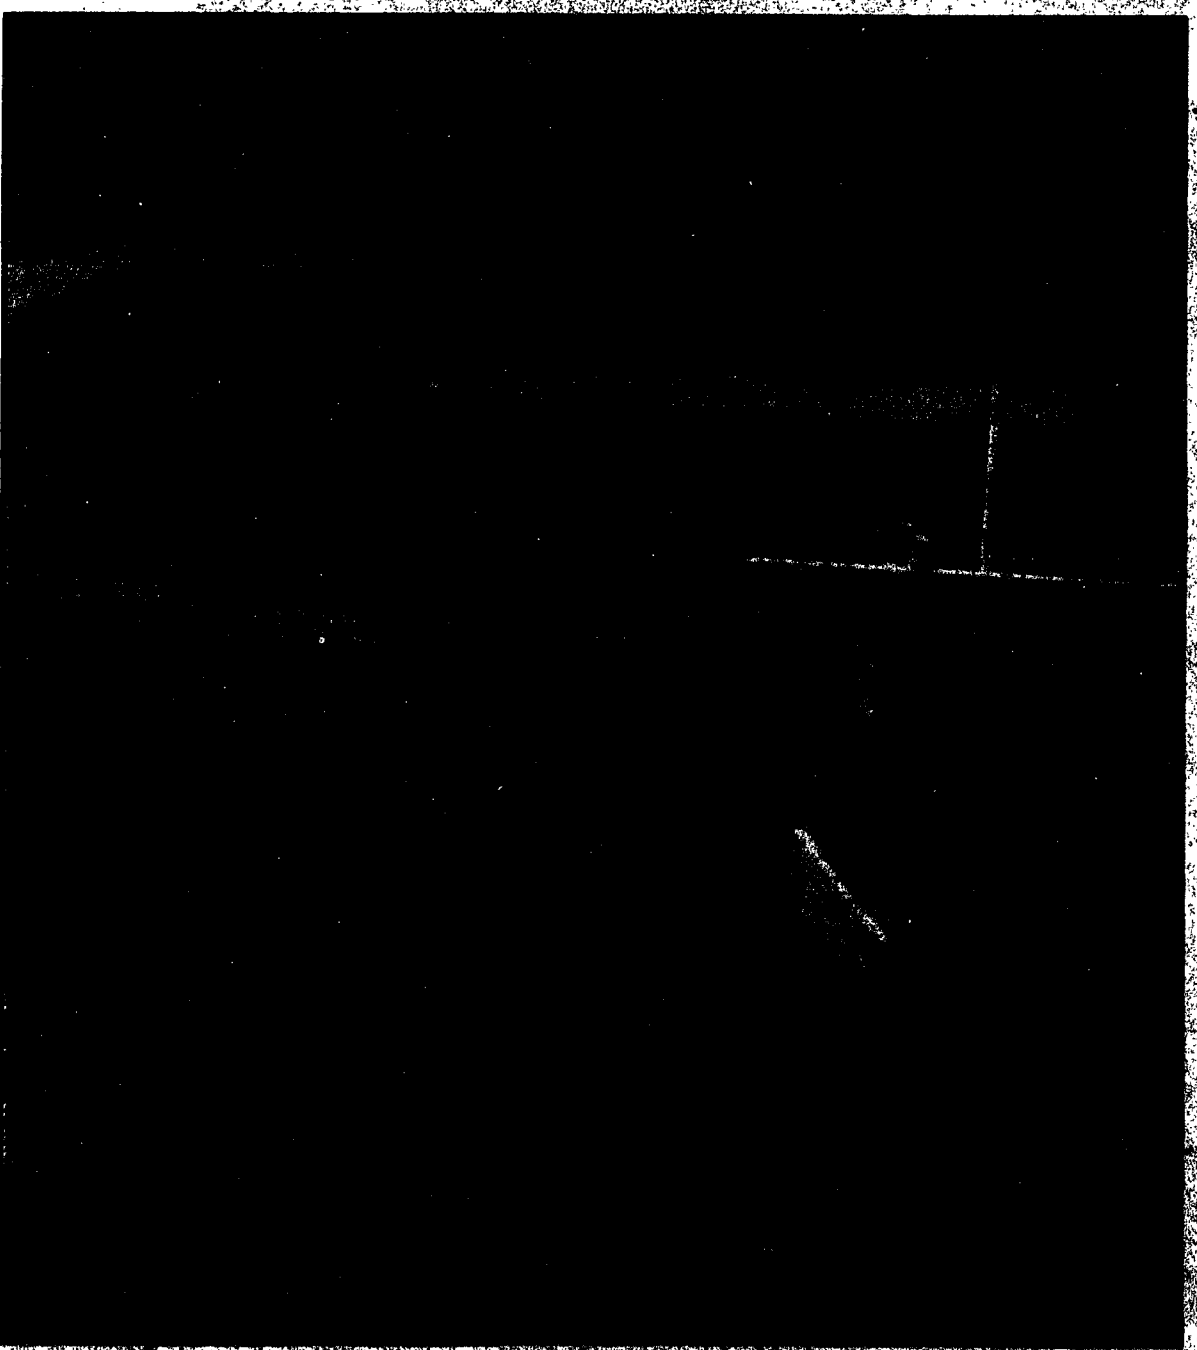

And, work has begun on a Waveland drainage improvement project in the area of Sandy Street and Fell Street.

According to Waveland Director of Utilities Steve Landry, the project should benefit Oak Boulevard, Tide, Sandy, Fell and Surf streets.

"We are planning to go down Sandy and Tide streets and change out culverts that have collapsed or too small, which will benefit the overall drainage in the area," Landry said. "Some culverts may be removed altogether if it will benefit to leave them out."

Sandy is one of the streets on the city's paving project for the year and Landry explained that while working on the street it was decided to go ahead and improve the drainage.

- The Board approved emergency repairs to multiple leaks in the Waveland library roof.

Garbage bills due March 1

BY ED LEPOMA

Property owners with overdue garbage bills in Hancock County have until March 1 to pay up, then their names will be turned over to a collection agency.

At Monday's meeting, supervisors agreed to hire G. L. Sanders of Central Investigations and Collections in Long Beach to begin to attempt to collect from anybody who is at least $25 in arrears in paying their garbage bills.

Supervisors are also considering publishing a list of delinquent accounts in the Echo, but they did not make a decision to do that immediately.

Latest estimates are that since the county began providing pickup service weekly to the rural areas at a charge of $5 a month in 1994, a total of more than $500,000 is outstanding. In 1996, supervisors had to raid the gaming fund to the tune of $107,000 to make up for the deficit. The two cities got garbage picked up twice a week, but the $6 a month charged to residents is based on their water and gas bills, so the problem of collecting is usually much more difficult.

In the past, the county has had to raise the rate to $10 a month to make up for the deficit. The two cities got garbage picked up twice a week, but the $6 a month charged to residents is based on their water and gas bills, so the problem of collecting is usually much more difficult.

Krewe of Nereids holds ball

Special to the Echo

In a colorful carnival setting, the Krewe of Nereids staged its 32nd annual ball Saturday evening in the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum. With a series of song and dance extravaganzas and costume pageants, the women of Nereids invited their guests to capture the make-believe of life with "Wouldn't It Be Fun . . . !"

As the Jimmy Maxwell Orchestra played "Strike Up the Band," an explosion of fireworks heralded the entrance of the Captain.

Attired in a glittering purple brocade sheath bedecked with a spectacular collar of lavender plumage, the Captain invited everyone to revel in the music and high spirits of Mardi Gras.

Epitomizing the fulfillment of every possible imagined dream of fun, Her Majesty, Queen Doris XXXII appeared in a two-tiered scalloped tunic gown of satin with a gold embroidered overlay.

Swarovski crystals in a floral motif accented the material. Her Majesty's ermine-trimmed mantle was of gold lame' decorated with a regal motif of crowns, bows and flowers interpreted in platinum and gold sequins.

In the Nereids tradition, the identities of Queen Doris and her maids are never revealed. John Hutton "Chappy" Chapman reigned as King Nereus XXXII. Dukes to His Majesty were Messrs. Bertin C. Chevis, James R. Gurley, William Clark Breland, Nicky C. Gollott, Richard W. Redditt, and Donny Lee. Royal pages to their majesties were Cody Lawson Seal, Jeremy Kyle Sick, Andrew Bertin Chevis and Ryan Matthew Oliver.

The maids and dukes of the royal court were costumed to portray dreams of fun and make-believe. Representing the imagined fun of performing in a circus, the first maid to appear wore a fitted peacock blue and fuchsia lame' sheath with bordeaux, citrine, and teal appliques. A fan of sequined appliques surrounded by colorful plumage, which was attached at the hip of the gown, repeated the design of the turbaned headpiece.

The maid who represented the excitement of carnival in Venice wore a gown of yellow satin, lame' and Venetian lace trimmed in gold, silver and rhinestone braid. Recalling the laughter and music and joy of Italy, her headpiece was adorned with mirrored paillettes and baroque jewels.

The gown of the maid who symbolized the fantasy of having wings and being able to fly combined deep royal metallic brocade and sky-blue organza. Floor-length winged sleeves of powder and sky-blues were trimmed in gold and silver sequins. A profusion of sky-blue plumage topped a three-dimensional headpiece of three different shades of blue.

The maid who represented the fun of an African safari interpreted the thrill of journeying to one of the most fascinating places on earth. Her exotic dress of chartreuse satin and emerald lame' featured leopard detailing at the waistline and wristbands of gold sequins and emerald jewels with peacock feather trim. Her striking turban was fashioned of satin antelope antlers, leopard detailing and a spray of peacock feathers.

The maid who imagined flight beyond the galaxy on the Spaceship Enterprise was attired in red and black satin with touches of silver lame' complemented by a matching cape lined in gold lame'. The three dimensional headpiece was a futuristic conical design accented with a profusion of red ostrich plumes.

Recalling the fun of art elegant masquerade ball, the maid costumed as Madame de Pompadour wore a flared gown of French lace and satin in shades of russet, charcoal and ecru.

Accordion-pleated ruffles trimmed the sleeves and apron front. Massive appliques in gold and silver sequins covered the front and sweeping hemline. Her sculptured headpiece, reminiscent of the pompadour, featured a large jeweled fleur de lis and apricot ostrich plumes mixed with raven feathers.

Each officer of the krewe wore a v-neck gown of gold lame' and black Georgette with a gold metallic sunburst design. Bouquets of black feathers accented the gold sequined scroll design of their headpieces.

General chairmen of the ball were Messrs. Keith A. Ladner and Clarence L. Moran; vice chairman were Messrs. Charles A. Breath III and Herbert T. DuBuisson. Committee chairmen were Messrs. Arthur J. Chapman III, Michael Richardson, Allyn Combs, Harold M. Hitt, Charles A. Breath IV, Carl M. Guy and Keith Johnson.

Mr. Armand H. Serpas Sr. serves as Parade Marshal for the Krewe of Nereids.

The fun continues Sunday, Feb. 15 at 1 p.m. when the 32nd annual parade of the Krewe of Nereids, "Wouldn't It Be Fun . . . !" rolls in the Bay-Waveland area.

pile driving on that project? and are expected to be in full construction soon, Mayor Eddie Favre said.

In other business Tuesday, council called for bids on a new fire truck, and the revamping of the fire department's rescue vehicle. Officials expect the new fire truck to cost some $250,000.

Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie said the new pumper will have a mounted deck water gun capable of spewing 600 to 700 gallons of water per minute at a distance of up to 200 feet. That will give the city capacity to fight fires at a height of up to 90 feet, or some seven stories, Gavagnie said.

While the city doesn't have money for the new vehicle in this year's budget, officials decided to proceed with the bidding process because the truck won't be delivered or paid for until next year.

In addition to the new vehicle, the chief's plans for revamping the department's rescue truck were endorsed by council and included in the bid package. The chief said he wants to re-outfit the department's "workhorse" vehicle, replacing the chassis and reconditioning the truck's main features.

Gavagnie said the rescue vehicle is used extensively as emergency response equipment, saving tremendous wear and tear on the department's larger, more costly vehicles.

A city resolution asking for a safety barrier down the middle of the Highway 90 bridge came at the request of council member Tad Black, and was endorsed unanimously by council.

Black said he hopes officials of other political jurisdictions in Hancock and Harrison counties also will issue a plea for the divider. The bridge has been the scene of numerous fatal collisions in recent years.

Council President James Rutherford endorsed the barrier idea, and said he's been told that some $750,000 already has been set aside for such construction.

In other business, council agreed to participate in a new "workfare" program that was outlined by Jackie Moore of the Mississippi Department of Social Services during Monday's meeting.

Moore said the program includes Food Stamp recipients, age 18 to 50, who have no dependents.

Unless those recipients enroll in the workfare system, or are taking some 20 hours of class work per week, they are eligible for only three months' of Food Stamps in a three-year period, she said.

Under workfare, DSS screens applicants for positions and tracks their progress. To remain in the program, the participants work 23 hours per month, and are paid by DSS.

Moore said the program helps build self esteem, gives job training and work experience. "A lot of clients are out of work due to no fault of their own" said Moore. And she told council her clientele have a broad array of skills they can offer a municipality.

Rutherford called for the city's participation, saying the city will have to pay "substantial sums" for the workfare participants. He said the city's Public Works Department in particular often is short-handed, and a laborer is hard to find.

Action on the bed and breakfast matter was unanimous, giving the final approval for an establishment at 115 Washington Street. Matthew A. Matulich said he will own and operate the establishment with four guest rooms.

Matulich said the bed and breakfast will "complement the neighborhood." The operation is not so much a commercial venture on his part, said Matulich, as it is an avenue to facilitate his living in the historic structure. Matulich also recently purchased the former St. Amant's restaurant on Beach Boulevard, and is planning to open a new dining facility there.

In other matters Tuesday, council:

—Appointed Cleveland Williams to a full five-year term on the Bay-Waveland School board. Williams recently completed a partial term on the board.

—Appointed Robert Kane to the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Kane will hold the seat recently vacated by the resignation of Russell Elliott.

—Approved payment of $6,120 to Yarrowburg Equipment Service for emergency repairs to a sewer line in Sycamore Street. The line collapse during recent heavy rains, and city crews were unable to repair it without help. With costs of materials and city crews, the entire project cost some $10,600, Public Works Director Ron Vanney said.

—Agreed to call on Rep. Gene Taylor for help in expediting emergency repair work to a revetment along Beach Boulevard constructed under a Corps of Engineers project. The relatively new revetment is collapsing in some spots, and waterfront property is eroding.

City officials say a study of the damages, and the reason for the structure's failure, was authorized at the federal level. The study calls for the federal government to pay the entire cost of repairs, but officials say funding for the work has not been secured.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Arbor Day will once again feature a tree-give-away on the Hancock County Courthouse steps on Friday, Feb. 13.

The give-away is sponsored by the Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District with assistance from the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

There will be free green ash, sycamore, cherry bark oak, sawtooth oak, nuttall oak and chestnut oak.

There will also be trees for sale at $4 each. These are Southern Magnolia, Red Bud, White Dogwood, and Golden Rain Trees.

The hours will be 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., or until all trees are gone, which will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis.

There is always a need to plant trees in our area. Many are lost through storms and disease and need to be replaced.

This is a good opportunity to receive and replace some of the missing trees.

Mardi Gras is fast approaching with the next area parade, the Krewe of Kids, scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 14.

The big Waveland-Bay St. Louis parade by the Krewe of Nereids is scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 15. Nereids held its ball last weekend, and all the ladies are ready for their big parade in about 10 days.

The Krewe of Diamondhead is set for Sat., Feb. 21. Pass Christian St. Paul's Carnival Association parade is scheduled for Sunday, Feb. 22.

On Fat Tuesday, Feb. 24, the Krewe of Real People will roll through the streets of Bay St. Louis.

We will be telling you more about the various parades as the time nears.

Have a happy and safe Mardi Gras season.

Tuesday was a happy day for Bay Catholic Elementary School's administrators, parents, students and community.

Bishop Joseph Howze and Father Pete Mockler, OLG pastor, lead a group of the school's officials in groundbreaking ceremonies.

A new building will house additional classrooms, and most important, science and computer labs.

Bay Catholic students surrounded the site for the new facility. In attendance were many members of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church and others from the community.

The Bay Catholic building program is the first step in a Capital Campaign for the elementary school and Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis.

A lot of work has been done over several years on the Capital Campaign for the two schools. Each and everyone involved should be complimented for their efforts.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative Dirk Dedeaux

House takes up crime bills

This week the legislature began floor action in full swing. Among bills passed by the House were laws that strengthened criminal penalties for crimes against the elderly.

House Bill 766, of which I am a co-sponsor, allows courts to enhance penalties for crimes committed specifically against persons who are 65 or older.

Elderly people are in general less able to protect themselves against crime, which makes them a more vulnerable target for criminals. This law makes the punishment stiffer for criminals who single out elderly people.

Another bill (HB 714) addresses a growing problem in law enforcement — money laundering.

Money laundering is taking cash money that was gained through illegal actions, such as drug deals or robberies, and fraudulently making receipts or bills of sale to make the money appear as if it were legitimately earned.

Sometimes the money is laundered through financial instruments, such as stocks, bonds, money orders or bank transfers.

The penalty allows a fine of up to $500,000 and or up to 20 years in prison. This will allow prosecutors to file charges when money is seized in drug busts and other illegal activity, especially those which are associated with organized crime. The statute applies to all cases where more than $10,000 illegally obtained money is found.

Individuals with questions or comments may reach Rep. Dedeaux through the Capitol desk at (601) 359-3770.

Programs Offer Eligible Low Income Consumers Help with Phone Bills

By the Federal Communications Commission

There are two special programs aimed at assisting eligible low-income consumers with their telephone bills.

One helps consumers with telephone connection fees and the other with monthly bills.

The programs are called "Lifeline" and "Link-Up," and information about them can be obtained from your local phone company and State Utilities Commission.

The "Lifeline" program provides between $3.50 and $7.00 per month to assist with monthly charges. The amount will vary depending on decisions made by the state commission, such as whether to provide state support.

But eligible low income consumers will receive at least a $3.50 reduction on their telephone bill from the federal universal service support program.

The reduction applies only to a single phone line at the qualifying consumers' principal place of residence.

To qualify for "Lifeline" in states that provide state support, a consumer must meet the certain criteria established by the state commission.

In states that do not provide state support, to be eligible a consumer must participate in one of these programs: Medicaid; food stamps; Social Security Income (SSI); federal public housing assistance; or the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

All qualifying consumers are eligible for single party service, access to emergency services, operator and directory assistance, and free "toll limitation services", if the carrier is capable of providing those services.

Toll limitation includes toll blocking (which prevents the placement of any long-distance calls) and toll control, which limits the amount of long-distance calls to a dollar amount by the consumer.

Carriers providing "Lifeline" may not collect a service deposit in order to initiate "Lifeline" service if the qualifying low-income consumer voluntarily elects toll blocking.

The other program, "Link-Up," offers eligible low-income consumers:

- a reduction in the local telephone company's charges for starting service (the reduction is one-half of the telephone company's charge or $30.00, whichever is less) and
- deferred payments with no interest on charges for starting service.

"Link-Up" does not reduce or eliminate any permissible security deposits.

The "Link-Up" reduction applies to a single telephone line at the eligible consumers' principal place of residence.

Consumer qualifications for Link-Up are the same as for "Lifeline". Consumers should check with their state to see what they qualify for.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Marriage penalty tax should be eliminated

Last year Congress provided needed tax cuts for hardworking American families. The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 provided a number of breaks for families, including a gradual reduction in the capital gains tax and estate tax, an additional $500 per child tax credit and incentives to save for education costs.

We were also able to change the "guilty until proven innocent" policy by which the IRS operated. Prior to this change, taxpayers had the obligation to prove their innocence — unlike in a criminal proceeding where the defendant is innocent until proven guilty.

However, the nation's current tax code is still too complicated. I believe that Congress should work to simply the federal tax codes in a way that is fair to working American families.

One item in particular that I would like to see changed is the Marriage Penalty Tax. The federal government should encourage people to stay together rather than making them pay more in taxes just because they are married.

The problem that exists under the current tax code is that some couples face a federal tax bill higher than the amount they would pay if they were not married and filed individual returns.

According to a study by the Congressional Budget Office in June of 1997, more than 21 million families pay on average $1,400 more in taxes just because they are married.

The Congressional Budget Office study found that the marriage tax forces 42 percent of American families — 21 million married couples — to pay more in income taxes than if they were divorced or lived together unmarried. We need to end this unfair tax that hurts working families. What this bill will mean for working families if passed, is a savings of $1,400 a year, which averages out to be about $120 extra a month. I know that $120 extra a month would come in handy to working couples in South Mississippi who are simply trying to make ends meet or save for their future and their children's future.

We all know that for many couples, where both spouses work, the second income is used just to pay the tax man. This extra money would help them pay for their children's college or even help them pay off accumulated debts, such as credit cards and mortgages.

I am one of more than 240 House members, which includes both Republicans and Democrats — who have co-sponsored this bill. The Marriage Tax Elimination Act would wipe out the marriage tax penalty by allowing couples to choose what filing status makes the most sense for them.

Couples would be able to choose between filing as singles or jointly.

Current law punishes many married couples who file jointly by pushing them into higher tax brackets. It taxes the income of the families' second wage earner at a much higher rate than if that salary was taxed only as an individual.

The House Ways and Means Committee is currently considering various tax cuts plans, including this bill to eliminate the marriage penalty. Its wrong for the IRS to tax families more than single tax filers for no other reason except that they're married.

Congressman Taylor may be contacted by writing: 2447 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, or by calling 1-800-273-4363.

COUNTIES

Q To what extent, if any, does the board of supervisors have authority to control the operation and use of county law enforcement vehicles?

A The board of supervisors has control over the sheriff's budget and may revise it at any regular meeting. Vehicles allocated to the sheriff's department are property of the county and the board may, in its discretion, allocate such vehicles as is seen fit. (Attorney General's opinion to Welch dated Oct. 10, 1997)

Q Does the board of supervisors have the authority to determine whether the sheriff may appoint regular and/or auxiliary deputies?

A The Mississippi Code sets out a minimum number of deputies handling law enforcement duties for each sheriff based on population.

The number of auxiliary deputies shall be approved by the board of supervisors and may be increased or reduced from time to time by the board. (Attorney General's opinion to Welch dated Oct. 10, 1997)

Q Does the sheriff have the authority to employ persons who are not deputized such as jailers and clerical staff?

A Yes, subject to approval by the board of supervisors of the sheriff's budget therefor. (Attorney General's opinion to Ross dated Oct. 17, 1997)

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

Not one, but two

A couple of special people received the Outstanding Citizen of the Year Award at the dinner meeting of the Diamondhead Community Association (DCA).

Bill Connolly and his wife Eloise were honored for outstanding community service. Bill (Mr. Music Man) has played his special kind of music for parties, church functions, nursing homes, retirement homes, etc.

Eloise is by his side (over 60 years) helping him along. She has been the mainstay of the Diamondhead Newcomers Club, providing the unique and artistic name tags that say "welcome" to our community.

She also designs and works on the beautiful center pieces and decorations for the newcomers and other club events.

We say, well done Connollys and congratulations.

At the meeting, outgoing president Tom McCoy introduced the new officers and board: president, Dick Weber; vice president, Pat Outlaw; treasurer, Rose Rybicki; board members, Doris Gendusa, Sally Lindsley, Roger Urbano and Ken Rankin. McCoy asked the association members to give them their full support.

The membership in the DCA has dropped considerably, so the new folks have the responsibility to bring the organization back to what it used to be. More young families are moving into Diamondhead and need to become involved and have a voice in "working for a better Diamondhead."

The program's highlights were five young ladies, Holly Parker, Shannon and Kelsey Morris and Stephanie and Christine Lottes from the Diamondhead Kids' Theatre who sang songs from their successful summer production of A Little Princess.

Adding to the delightful musical entertainment were Judy D'Angelo and Ron Herzog from the Coast Choral who did a few excerpts from their large repertoire.

The Yacht Club did a fine job of serving a delicious meal, making it a most enjoyable evening.

Orientation leaders

Sophomore Stacie Waver of Gulfport, left, and junior Jamie Schaefer of Bay St. Louis are among 18 top students serving this year as leaders of the summer orientation program at Mississippi State University. They will provide assistance and share their knowledge of campus with incoming freshmen and transfer students — and their parents — taking part in June registration and information sessions. Selection of orientation leaders involves a rigorous screening process; this year, nearly 90 students applied for the positions. Weaver, an educational psychology major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Weaver and a 1996 graduate of Bible Baptist Christian School. Schaefer, an apparel, textiles and merchandising major and 1995 Bay High graduate, is the daughter of Beatrice Burch of Bay St. Louis and Richard Schaefer of Diamondhead.

Southern Miss posts another record spring enrollment

The University of Southern Mississippi has recorded another record spring enrollment for all campuses, surpassing last year's previous record by more than 300 students.

According to final registration figures for spring 1998, USM enrolled a total of 13,632 students at its Hattiesburg and Gulf Coast campuses.

That is 315 above the 13,317 students enrolled in spring 1997 — or a nearly 2.4 percent increase for all campuses.

The Hattiesburg campus showed an enrollment increase of 3.1 percent — from 12,065 students enrolled this spring compared to 11,701 last spring.

The three USM Gulf Coast centers — located at Long Beach, Keesler Air Force Base and Gautier — showed an enrollment decline of 2.3 percent. Some 1,590 students were enrolled at USM Gulf Coast this spring compared to 1,642 in the spring of 1997.

"Our location is good. We're in a vibrant and growing community," said Dr. Joe Paul, dean of Student Affairs. "But more important than anything else, I believe the perception is starting to catch up with the reality — which is that this is a great place to pursue an education."

Lady Tigers secure top seed; down Hancock Lady Hawks 67-58

BY RICHARD MEEK

Bay High secured a top seed in the upcoming Division 7-AAAAA tournament and gained a bit of revenge with a 67-58 victory over Hancock Thursday night in one of the largest and most vocal crowds to fill the Tigerdome in several years.

The eighth-ranked Lady Tigers ended the regular season with an 11-1 division record. Bay High, 26-2 overall, has two non-division games remaining, but no matter the outcome of those games is assured of entering the division tournament, scheduled Feb. 16-20, as the top seed. The Lady Tigers will face the eighth seed.

Bay High also avenged a non-division loss to Hancock earlier in the season in the Picayune Tournament. At the time, Bay High was undefeated.

"This was a very important win for us," said Keely Marshall, the most unlikely of Lady Tiger heroes with six second quarter points and nine for the game.

"We hate to lose to Hancock more than anybody and like to beat them more than anybody," she added. "We feel comfortable entering the district tournament."

Hancock, 19-6, 10-2, entered the game on a nine-game winning streak, with their last loss coming to Bay High in the Lady Hawks' nest on Dec. 16. But a trapping Lady Tiger defense that resulted in poor shooting would prevent Hancock from ringing up its 10th in a row.

The Lady Hawks shot only 32 percent from the field, making 17 of 53 attempts. In the second half, Hancock was 7 of 25, 4 of 18 in the final quarter.

"We weren't overconfident, but this is a wakeup call," Hancock coach Sandy Albright said. "It was more nervousness and being anxious. We didn't step up."

The teams were tied on five occasions, and there were two lead changes in the first quarter. Hancock had taken a 17-13 lead on Maranda Cuevas' layup with 1:08 remaining in the first quarter. But Alicia Gavagnie's two free throws with 53 seconds remaining and Chanda Haley's layup at the buzzer tied the game at 17.

After Gavagnie's jumper gave Bay High a 19-17 lead, Mindy Ladner answered with a layup to tie the game at 19 with six minutes left in the half.

Seconds later, Christina Bradley responded with a jumper to give the Lady Tigers a lead they would not relinquish. From late in the first quarter until midway through the second, Bay High went on an 11-2 run to take a 24-19 lead with 4:18 remaining.

The Lady Hawks closed to 28-26 at the 1:42 mark on Jessica Pucheu's two free throws, but Marshall, normally a reserve, hit consecutive baskets to give Bay High a 32-28 lead with 43 seconds remaining.

"I didn't expect to play tonight," Marshall said. "I thought coach (Debbie Triplett) would keep the starters in the game. (Triplett) felt confident to put me in. It was fun."

"The first shot I made got me going," she added. "We needed to have our spirits lifted. I'm not expected to score, and I think that got our spirits up."

Bay High went into intermission with a 24-21 lead, despite shooting 14 of 34 from the field.

"I felt good getting out of the first half with the lead," Triplett said. "(Marshall) came in and shot the ball well and played good defense."

An 8-0 run to start the second half gave the Lady Tigers a 42-31 with 5:12 remaining in the third quarter. Haley, despite being harrassed by a box and one defense, scored four points during the run. Gavagnie and Shanma Ambrose also scored during the run.

Hancock missed six shots and committed five turnovers to start the quarter, and did not score until Pucheu's three-point play with 3:13 left. The carnage could have been worse for the Lady Hawks, but Bay High made only four of 12 attempts in that same time period.

"Right after the half, Bay High went on a run, and we didn't do anything," Albright said. "It looked like we were in a fog. We didn't step up and make the plays."

The Lady Tigers led 50-41 at the end of three quarters and stretched the lead to 58-45 on Haley's jumper midway through the fourth quarter. With 4:28 remaining, Haley's fifth foul sent her and her 14 points to the bench, but the Lady Hawks could come no closer than seven the rest of the way.

"This will give us a little bit of confidence going into the tournament," Triplett said. "We played hard. We needed this."

Bradley led the Lady Tigers with 20 points, seven rebounds and five steals. Bradley scored 14 points in the first half. Gavagnie had 12 points.

Pucheu had 27 points and Ladner 18 for the Lady Hawks. Hancock made 23 of 26 free throws, and were 9 of 10 in the fourth quarter.

"I think we played well," Albright said. "This will help experience wise in the district tournament and the playoffs, if we should get out of the district. We don't have our heads down."

In other games: Pass Christian 40, St. Martin 31 — Leslie Smith scored 10 points in the Lady Pirates' victory in Pass Christian.

The Lady Pirates are 13-16, 2-7.

BOYS

Bay High 66, Hancock 56 — The Tigers withstood a late Hawk rally and held on for the win in the Tigerdome.

The victory kept Bay High, 16-8, 9-4, in contention to secure a second seed in the upcoming division tournament. The Tigers close out their regular season division schedule on Friday night at St. Stanislaus in the annual Mayor's Cup game.

The district's second seed will play Hancock in the opening round of the tournament.

Jason Robinson scored 14 points and Marc Price 13 for the Tigers.

Donnie Carver led the Hawks, 7-19, 3-11, with 18 points. Kimmie Ladner added 14 points and Marty Homer 11.

Bay High led 32-28 at the half but broke it open in the third quarter with an 18-5 run that gave the Tigers a 50-33 lead.

Tipoff for the Tigers' match with Stanislaus is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Rock gym. The two-time state champion SSC soccer team will be introduced at halftime.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre and Waveland Mayor John Mason will present the team trophy and MVP award following the game.

Pass Christian 66, St. Martin 47 — Rudy Bell scored 21 points and Damian Johnson 12 for the Pirates.

Thomas and Kelly Yanok also scored for Bay High.

The Lady Tigers will close out the regular season at Ocean Springs tonight against the undefeated, 18-9, Division 7 champion Lady Greyhounds. Game time is set for 5:30.

Bay High will travel to Meridian Saturday to face the Lady Wildcats at 1 p.m. in the first round of the state soccer playoffs.

Bay High 1, Harrison Central 0

The Bay High Tigers beat Harrison Central 1-0 Monday night, avenging an early season 5-0 loss to the Red Rebels. Jeffrey Rose scored on a pass from Greg Dupuy for the only goal of the defensive contest.

Steven Boudro recorded the shutout in goal as Bay High improved its record to 11-6 on the season.

Bay High girls 3, Harrison Central girls 1

The Bay High Lady Tigers clinched a playoff spot with a 3-1 win over Harrison Central Monday night.

After falling behind 1-0 in the early going, the Lady Tigers rallied for three first half goals for the district win. Katie DiBenedetto, Andie Fillingame and Amanda Kingston scored for Bay High. Mike Carbon and Keely Marshall each had one assist.

The team has posted a 10-4 overall record and is 9-3 in division action.

SSC 3, Gulfport 2

The St. Stanislaus Rockchaws edged the Gulfport Admirals 3-2 Friday in high school soccer action.

Mark Gagnon, John Rich and Justin Wadsworth scored for the Rocks. Rimmer Covington, Chris Gagnon and Ronnie Vanney each had an assist.

The Rocks are 17-4 overall and 14-2 in district competition and will open the state playoffs Saturday at 3 p.m. in Meridian against the 17-3 Wildcats.

Soccer playoffs start Saturday

St. Stanislaus, Our Lady Academy and the Bay High Lady Tigers will open the state soccer playoffs Saturday.

The defending state champion Rockchaws will face the Wildcats at 3 p.m. Saturday in Meridian. The Lady Tigers will also travel to Meridian for a 1 p.m. contest with the Lady Wildcats. Our Lady Academy will host Northeast Lauderdale Saturday at Rockchaw Stadium.

SSC-Meridian

St. Stanislaus posted a 17-4 overall record this season, 14-2 in division play to finish in second place behind the Long Beach Bearcats.

The Wildcats have a record of 17-3. "They are definitely a good team," Rock coach Andy Kivlan stated. "They have a big, fast forward in Keenan Poole. I think he has scored 28 goals. Jeffrey Swanson, a midfielder, is their team quarterback. All their plays start with him. They also have a good sweeper and keeper."

"For us to win, we have to slow them down, counter their speed and come back quickly on the transition," Kivlan explained.

St. Stanislaus was scheduled to play St. John tonight, but that game has been canceled at the request of the Eagles' coach. "We had hoped to get in one more game, but this will give us a chance for an extra day's practice," Kivlan said.

"We are healthy and ready to go. Our season has been a total team effort this year with a lot of support off the bench."

St. Stanislaus has won the Class II state championship the past two seasons. This year the school was bumped up to Class I and competes with the larger schools. "We will play the hand we are dealt and see what happens."

If St. Stanislaus defeats Meridian, they would host the winner of Saturday's Clinton-Biloxi contest Tuesday at Rockchaw Stadium. Clinton is the defending Class I state champion.

Lady Tigers-Meridian

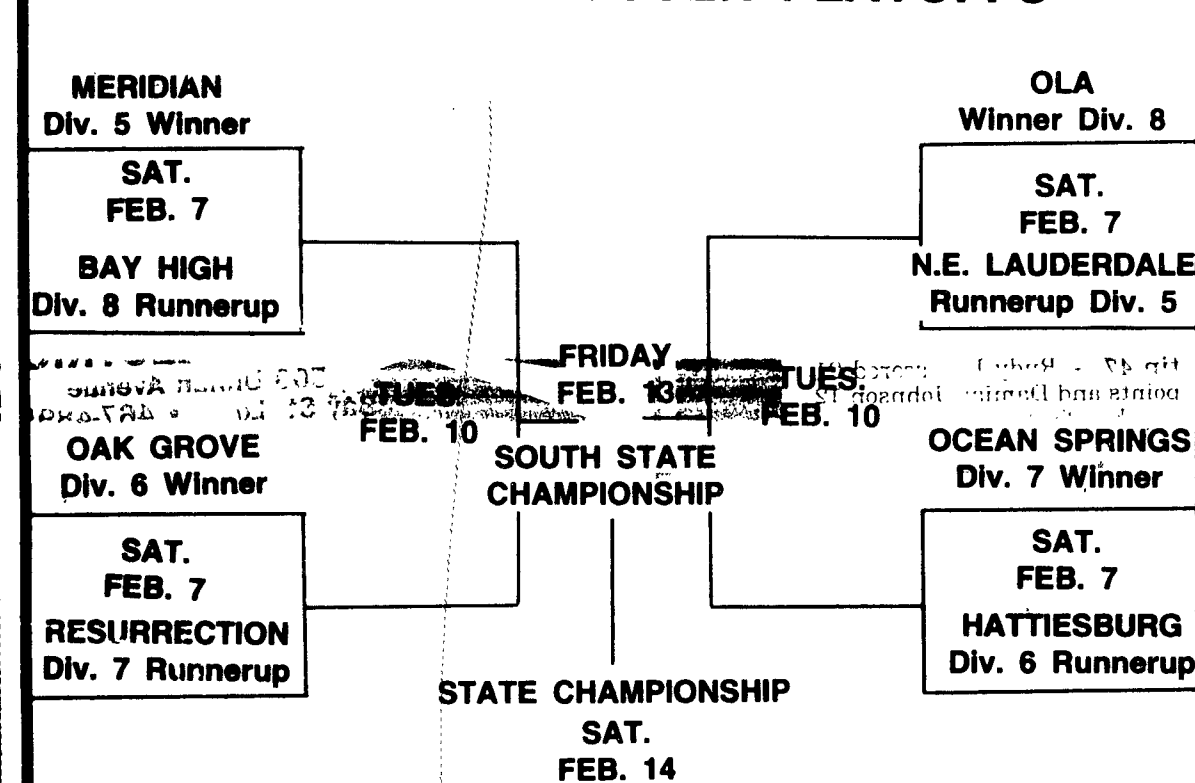

The Lady Tigers finished the season in second place with a record of 11-4. The team has been to the playoffs the past two years, reaching the championship game in 1996 and the semifinals last season. All three of their division losses have been by one point. One of those losses was in a shootout, and another went to overtime.

In each of the last two years, the Lady Tigers have eliminated Meridian in the second round of the playoffs.

OLA-N.E. Lauderdale

Our Lady Academy claimed first place in Division 8 with an overall record of 15-4 and will host Northeast Lauderdale Saturday at Rockchaw Stadium.

GIRLS STATE SOCCER PLAYOFFS

SSC Senior Night

St. Stanislaus will hold a ceremony honoring the Rock seniors prior to SSC's varsity game Saturday night.

The varsity is scheduled to play Mercy Cross at 7:30 p.m. Our Lady Academy will play North Forrest at 4:30 p.m.

Intercollegiate golf tournament at The Bridges

The second annual Bridges All-American Intercollegiate Invitational, a collaborative effort between the University of Southern Mississippi and The Bridges Golf Resort at Casino Magic, is set for Feb. 16 and 17 with a college-am for the general public Sunday, Feb. 15.

"We are delighted to host one of the most outstanding college golf tournaments in the country in collaboration with USM," said Joe Billhimer, general manager of Casino Magic Bay St. Louis.

There will be 21 five-man teams with one collegiate golfer and four amateurs. Teams are being accepted now, but space is limited.

Registered teams include Florida State University, Tulane University, University of Indiana, University of South Alabama, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, the host school, University of Southern Mississippi and others.

"We have a strong group of college golfers with five to six potential All-Americans," said USM's head coach and tournament coordinator, Sam Hall.

Billhimer added that this is a great opportunity for amateurs to play the one-year-old Arnold Palmer course with collegiate athletes. The course celebrated its one-year anniversary Feb. 1 and according to Magic officials, is in the best shape ever.

Entry is $125 a person or $500 a team. For information, or to play in the college-am Feb. 15, contact coordinators Red Roberts at 1-800-5-MAGIC-5, ext. 4358 or USM Golf Coast, Sam Hall, at (228) 266-5270.

USM offers new outlet for merchandise

University of Southern Miss fans will find imprinted merchandise more available in the marketplace through a new sales concept, The Southern Miss Store, unveiled recently.

The concept features a rack of Southern Miss imprinted merchandise in convenience stores. The first 'Southern Miss Store' was installed recently in a Big K convenience store on US 98 west of Hattiesburg near Methodist Hospital.

Plans call for racks to be placed in other Big K stores in Hattiesburg and elsewhere. The program will be given time to develop before additional locations are added.

"It is very fitting, in our 10th year of the licensing program, to launch this innovative project," said Bud Kirkpatrick, USM director of licensing.

"Our total emphasis and goal here is having as much imprinted Southern Miss merchandise available in the marketplace as possible."

Kirkpatrick said he had been developing this idea for more than a year, to get Southern

Miss merchandise in the heavy traffic areas of convenience stores. However, a busy schedule and other projects kept the idea from coming to fruition.

"Ron Hamilton joined our staff this year as assistant licensing agent. He is the first full-time licensing employee and, in a very short time, pulled this project together. He will focus his time mainly on the retail market," Kirkpatrick said.

The USM Collegiate Licensing Program began in 1987 and annually provides about $27,000 to the university in royalties paid by the 166 manufacturers throughout the U.S. that are licensed to use USM marks on merchandise of all types.

Royalty revenue is used to fund the management of the program and assist in funding special campus projects.

A special program, Southern Miss Retailers, involves more than 35 retailers throughout the South who have agreed to maintain a stock of Southern Miss merchandise year-around. These retailers receive a door decal bearing the Southern Miss Retailers logo, a newsletter and periodic visits from Hamilton.

"I want to thank Ronnie Chadwell and all the people in the Big K Oil Company for venturing into this new concept with us," Kirkpatrick said. "They have provided the space for USM to begin a new dimension of imprinted merchandise in the marketplace, and for that we are extremely grateful."

For information on the Southern Miss Store program, call Hamilton at (601) 266-4491.

Hudson will direct USM's economic development effort

Dr. Tim Hudson will direct consolidation and enhancement of economic development activities at the University of Southern Mississippi in new, expanded role as associate vice president for administrative affairs.

"We recognize that we need a central focus for our economic development activities," said Hudson, who will continue to serve as dean of USM's College of International and Continuing Education. "We want to invigorate our involvement with economic efforts throughout Mississippi."

In his newly created role as associate vice president, Hudson will report to Dr. Clyde Ginn, the university's vice president for administration. As a dean, Hudson already reports to the USM's vice president for academic affairs, Dr. Karen Yarbrough.

"We are bringing all of our economic development efforts into one focused unit," explained USM President George Fleming. "This new unit will work hard to strengthen that unit through our mission priorities: teaching, research and service. The procedure for a new academic program in economic development has begun. We have informed our board of our intent to seek a doctoral program in international economic development."

In connection with Hudson's expanded responsibilities, he said the university will:

— immediately begin a national search to fill the post of executive director of economic development activities, who will serve as a liaison between the university and development practitioners;

— propose to house the American Economic Development Council's prestigious Economic Development Research Institute (EDRI), which is now located at Cleveland State University in Ohio;

— and seek state College Board approval of a new doctoral program in international development, which would complement the university's existing master's degree in economic development.

"This is an attempt to build a sturdier bridge among all of these different elements of economic development," said Hudson, who expressed hope of getting the plan on track this spring.

He said proposed relocation of the EDRI from Ohio to the USM campus would send strong signal in economic development circles.

"This effort will say to the entire development community out there across the United States — the chamber of commerce directors, the area development partnerships and the state departments of economic development — that the fundamental research questions that all these professionals are interested in are going to flow through USM."

"What quality-of-life factors will be important for future economic growth?" asked Hudson. "What labor force characteristics are most desirable for the information-age economy? How can we capitalize on opportunities for Mississippi such as tourism, trade and telecommunications? Those are basic research questions that universities really are in a position to answer."

Hudson said the hiring of a new "economic development practitioner" would "add to the mix of academic expertise" at USM.

"This new professional will position us to play a more effective role in working with the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development and other important development organizations throughout the region," he said.

That person will work closely with Dr. Robert Wales, chairman and professor of USM's Department of Geography and Area Development, and administrative manager of the CCED.

"I look forward to working with Dr. Hudson and the new economic development practitioner to help coordinate academic outreach programs, and in planning economic development at the university," said Wales.

Hudson said the proposed doctoral program in international development would allow USM to establish an interdisciplinary, cross-campus program built on faculty and institutional resources already in place at USM in such fields as international education, economic development, international business and other areas.

"This move reflects the global dimensions in today's economic development profession and the need for continuing professional education," said Hudson, noting the doctoral program would target employed development professionals who wish to enhance their careers.

school on the property. Voters approved a $20 million bond for the district last spring to construct a new middle school and elementary school, and make repairs on existing facilities.

The land dispute has landed in court, with several legal issues left unresolved, including eminent domain suits brought by both entities against the Riccabono family, owners of the property. After a sometimes heated 70-minute executive session on Tuesday that at one point left school board members huddling privately in front of the men's re-stream, the entities appeared to break the stalemate.

The resolution, which was passed unanimously by both the supervisors and school board, stated that the Port & Harbor and the supervisors would agree to share the cost of constructing a road to an alternate site east of Hancock High School, where the new middle school would be constructed.

In return, the school board would drop all lawsuits related to the acquisition of the Riccabono property, and any claims to the property.

Walters said Wednesday he would recommend the Commission refuse to pay any of the cost of the new road, which may run as high as $100,000 for the 1,500 ft. strip.

"It doesn't benefit us at all," he said. "If the supervisors want to pay for the road, that's fine."

Walters' refusal to endorse the compromise brought angry responses from both school district officials and supervisor president Philip Moran.

"It bothers me that we got drug into this thing," Moran said. "For not having a dog in this race, we are being generous (to the Port and Harbor) to say we will share the cost of a road that will give them another access to (the Riccabono site).

"We could have said, 'Guys, build the road by yourself.' We would hope the Port would work with us in putting this matter behind us. If they choose not to, who knows?"

School Board President Cheryl Bennett said she was "disappointed" by Walters' comments.

The school board and the supervisors have been working hard to come to an agreement that benefits everybody," Bennett said. "I don't quite agree (building the road) would not benefit the Port & Harbor. A high standard of education benefits everyone as a whole."

School Superintendent Terrell Randolph said the deal "is off" if the Commission votes to act on Walters' recommendation.

Artigues said he told both the school board members and supervisors he would bring the proposal to the Port & Harbor, but offered no guarantees.

"I firmly recommend that anyone should explore any settlement opportunity," he said. "I don't recommend purely business decisions. That's a decision the board has to make."

In another twist to an evolving story, Bennett said only recently did Randolph inform board members that the Riccabono property is 80 percent wetlands. Mitigation and fill for the site would considerably drive up construction costs.

The new proposed site, owned by the White family and involves corporations, is about 60 percent wetlands, Bennett said.

"I have no idea (why Randolph didn't inform the board)," Bennett said. "I really didn't think wetlands would play a part. Mr. Randolph should have known."

Randolph said the Riccabonos would not allow personnel on the site to complete a survey. But he admitted that he and others "walked the site pretty good." The survey was completed in the past few weeks.

He also acknowledged that the White property is a better site.

Despite the wetlands problem, Walters said the Commission would continue to move forward to purchase the Riccabono property. When asked why, he responded, "That's a very valid question."

"If you had other alternatives, you wouldn't do that," he added. "We have to have that property."

The Commission is scheduled to meet on Monday and is expected to act on Walters' recommendations.

recommendations.

School district officials had originally hoped to advertise for bids for the middle school in February, and hoped to begin the 1999-2000 school year in the new facility. However, that timetable is likely to be delayed, which would place an additional strain on an already overcrowded crisis in the schools.

"exorbitant." Cowand tried unsuccessfully to get Seal to lower the proposed charge.

But, the idea to split the work didn't sit well with Board President Philip Moran. Moran said the selection of an engineer "matters to me. The timing has to be right (for letting out the various contracts)," Moran explained.

And, District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner added, "You just can't select anybody. You have to hire somebody who knows about roads."

Seymour said he found it hard to believe that the board would have trouble finding other engineering firms with experience in roadbuilding.

"Isn't Bay St. Louis doing some major roadwork? Where did they find their engineers?" Seymour asked.

District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman said when the new board of supervisors first took office he was one of the first to take a hard look at Seal's qualifications. Pullman said he didn't like the fact that Seal lived in Picayune (Pearl River County).

But, he said, as the Board began looking at other candidates, then working with Seal, "I feel we found the best man for the job."

The motion to split the project failed 2-3, with Moran casting the deciding vote. After that, the motion to hire Seal for the entire project at his proposed fee of seven percent passed 3-2, with Seymour and Cowand opposed.

In other road-related matters, supervisors let a contract to TCB Construction Co. Inc., of Pass Christian for culverts and other repairs that will improve drainage and control beach erosion at four locations along Beach Boulevard.

TCB was low of six firms that bid on the contract at a cost of $289,589, and the highest bid for the same work was $676,000, a bid submitted by Tony Parnell Construction of Vancleave. Seal said the bid submitted by TCB was 42 percent below estimates.

Supervisors rebid the project after receiving only one bid the first time around that was also in the $600,000 range.

TCB will lay culverts, new drainage lines and undertake other improvements at Bay Oaks Drive, Boardman and Leonhard avenues in Bay St. Louis, and at Aiken Road in Waveland.

Seymour also asked Seal the status of construction on Texas Flat Road, and Seal said due to the heavy rains there was not much the contractor could do.

The road widening project has also inconvenienced residents along Texas Flat Road, Seymour said because the mailman can't travel the road. Residents are being asked to temporarily pick up their mail at the Kline Post Office.

Cowand also gained supervisors approval to pay a 35 percent match to federal funds that will soon become available to repair another 1,200 feet of seawall along North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. The county's match will come out of surplus Seawall funds.

meeting, Alderman Jay Fleuret requested City Attorney Ronnie Artigues to draft a resolution authorizing each Alderman to receive a key to City Hall, along with all security codes.

Fleuret maintains that as an Alderman he has a right to the key and pass code. He said he wants a key to be able to look at the books on his own time.

Artigues informed Fleuret and the Board that the law does not give Aldermen a right to a key to City Hall. The Board could, however, adopt a policy which would allow Aldermen a key.

Artigues went on to explain that except when acting in his capacity with the Board, an Alderman is no different than any other citizen.

Fleuret also requested that the hours to the Animal Shelter be extended in an effort to accommodate more people.

Alderman Tommy Longo informed Fleuret the hours had already been extended to be open on Saturdays and Mondays.

"We increased the hours as much as we could and still stay within budget," Longo said Tuesday. "The changes have really worked out well."

Longo explained that to ensure proper accounting of the money collected at the shelter, it must be turned into City Hall before the end of business each day.

According to records from the Waveland Animal Shelter, Fleuret asked to reclaim a citizen's dog from the shelter after hours last week, and was told it was against policy.

Bruce Northridge will return to his position on the Waveland Planning and Zoning Commission, replacing temporary appointee Sue Ashman. Ashman served while Northridge was out of the area for several months on business. Both Northridge and Ashman were appointed by Fleuret.

Award plaques were presented to Bill Fields and Sandra "Sam" Henley for service to the city.

Fields, who is retiring, was recognized for 19 years of service to the city. He has worked at the Police Department, the Fire Department and at the Municipal Pier.

Henley was recognized for 21 years with the Waveland Police Department where she serves as Assistant Chief.

Supers want written plan

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County supervisors want to see a written plan before agreeing to form an oversight board that would work out any problems involving emergency medical technicians.

Creation of a five-member board was proposed at Monday's Board of Supervisors meeting by Fire Marshal Richard Pate. He suggested the board consist of one doctor or nurse, one lawyer, two private citizens and himself.

Pate said the board's primary duty would be to coordinate policy regarding EMTs with the fire departments, the sheriff's office and American Medical Response (AMR), the only licensed ambulance service in Hancock County.

"I'm trying to form a group not coordinated with the fire departments, the ambulance service or the Sheriff's Department," said Pate. "Right now, it's one group against another."

Volunteer firemen have recently balked at new state regulations requiring those who work as emergency medical technicians to take additional training under supervision of AMR. Firemen contend the course would be too costly and time-consuming for them.

Pate told supervisors the feuding groups appear on the verge of a compromise on that issue, but he did not go into detail.

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Cowand said she wouldn't object to formation of such a group, but she wanted to see specifics on how it would operate and what it would oversee.

Pate's suggestion was made while three AMR officials were waiting to give a report on response time to supervisors.

Steve Delahousey, AMR's director of operations for South Mississippi said he wouldn't object to formation of the advisory group, but he wondered if it would supplant a 1993 ordinance and contract supervisors signed with AMR that already covers problems with emergency service workers.

The county's contract with AMR is up for renewal in May, and it could be amended to empower the new advisory group, according to county administrator Tim Kellar.

Supervisors asked Pate to come up with a written proposal at its next meeting, Feb. 17. On response time, AMR reported their ambulances responded to 2,372 calls in Bay St. Louis last year, and 764 were considered emergency situations. The average response time for emergency calls was 5.4 minutes.

In Waveland, AMR responded to 598 calls last year, with 500 calls considered emergency situations. Average response time was 6.5 minutes, according to the report.

In the unincorporated areas of Hancock County, AMR responded to 2,569 calls, with 1,933 considered emergencies. Average response time was 12.8 minutes.

AMR's contract with the county requires it to maintain response times of 10 minutes or less with 80 percent reliability in urban areas and 20 minutes or less with 80 percent reliability in rural areas of Hancock County.

Delahousey said AMR was operating well within the required response times.

leverage to make sure those residents with Hancock County license tags pay up. A new state law allows the tax collector to withhold tags from anyone who owes a garbage bill, and County Administrator Tim Kellar says it is helping collection efforts.

The problem lies with those persons who might live fulltime in Hancock County, but who have cars registered in Louisiana or elsewhere.

Supervisors agreed to allow Central to begin collection efforts, and will turn over the list of delinquencies to the firm by March 1.

Central will be paid 30 percent for debts one year or less and 40 percent for debts that have been outstanding a year or more.

Kellar had also suggested using the collection agency to recover Justice Court fines that now total $319,754, but supervisors decided to let that matter up to state auditors. In 1996, auditors asked the Justice Court for a list of all outstanding fines, and a payment schedule for each individual account.

If you're in arrears on your garbage bill, and want to pay before the March 1 deadline, you need to go to Bay St. Louis City Hall located at 111 Court Street.

This week, RSVP volunteers addressed invitations to more than 2,500, asking them to support the ball by sending a donation to support Hope Haven. Hancock County's battered, abused and abandoned children.

The tongue-in-cheek invitation states the ball is scheduled from 7 p.m. until midnight Feb. 24, Mardi Gras Day, but supporters don't need to dress up or get out of the house.

Instead, there are choices of donations you can make. You're asked to send $10 for you and your sweetheart, or $12 for you and someone else as a sweetheart, $15 for saving me from a heart-breaker or $20 for a date not having to rent a tux and wear too tight shoes.

Or you can pledge $50 and say hope, and you're done.

You can make a donation or request membership information by writing to Hope Haven, P.O. Box 377, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. All contributions are 100 percent tax deductible.

Every Friday, Tolley joins 23 other distillery employees for the weekly taste-testing of the newest aged batches of Jack Da-

Stone trained Tolley as an aged whiskey taste-tester. Not only is a taste-test an unpaid position, the testers are not even allowed to swallow the whiskey. However, there are plenty of perks for being a taste-
